TEKNION SPONSORS CBC/RADIO-CANADA
75TH ANNIVERSARY EVENT

Teknion lead sponsor of CBC/Radio-Canada exhibition at Museum of Civilization in Quebec City

November 2, 2011 – Teknion Corporation today announced that it is presenting the CBC (Canadian Broadcasting Corporation) Radio-Canada exhibition titled Radio-Canada, A Story to Follow. The exhibition being held at the Museum of Civilization in Quebec City celebrates 75 years of public broadcasting to French-speaking listeners across Canada.

“As one of the top museums in the country, the Museum of Civilization in Quebec is renowned for its many great achievements,” said Jacques Alain, President and General Manager, Teknion Roy & Breton. “We share its passion for creativity, imagination, design and innovation, which naturally strengthened our desire to enter this partnership. One of the exhibition’s themes – the impact of evolving technology on our lives – resonates well with Teknion.”

Radio-Canada, A Story to Follow opens November 2 on the 75th anniversary of the first broadcast of the Crown corporation and runs until September 23, 2012. The exhibition was designed and produced by the Museum of Civilization in cooperation with Radio-Canada and is presented by Teknion. Radio-Canada, A Story to Follow is one of the public broadcaster’s many exhibitions taking place across the country celebrating its 75 years of contributions to democratic, social and cultural life in Canada.
